

OHIO PRIMARY ELECTIONS 2010

For the Ohio primary election, you may vote a Republican, Democrat, Libertarian, Constitution, Green, or Socialist ballot. You must choose which party's elections you want to vote in - you can not vote in more than one. We have grouped the candidates in this voter guide by party to assist you.

NOTE: When we have a candidate survey, but no other information to go on, the highest grade a non-incumbent can earn is a B. Strong pro-gun candidates who have been so graded are indicated with an asterisk (*).

Elections Matter

Every year we hear how important elections are, and in spite of all the hype, the truth is that every election is important.

In November, you are sure to hear someone say, "Why don't we have a good candidate to choose from?" Here's why: because people didn't show up to elect the good candidate in the primary.

Ohio's primary election is May 4, 2010. Candidates must win the primary to be on the ballot in the fall. We need to work together to ensure we have good candidates in November. That means you must choose candidates wisely and VOTE.

Encourage your family and friends to vote. Drive people to the polling station.

Many people will stay home because they think primaries don't matter. That gives us a chance to make a difference and put good candidate on the November ballot.
