

Your “no gun” sign prevents me from patronizing your business. So I, my family, and other gun owners will spend our money with your competitors.

Look on the back to see why you should remove your sign. →

No Guns = No Money

Your “no gun” sign is bad for business. It does nothing to make you safer. It simply tells criminals you’re an easy target and drives away good customers with a concealed carry license.

Unlike most people, license holders have passed a criminal background check. Statistics show we are far more law-abiding than the general public. Our numbers are growing every day. We are ideal customers and will patronize your business if you let us. Remove your sign and I, my family, and many other gun owners will gladly return.
